

Found on jns.org

Israeli-American group names new leaders ahead of national conference

jns JNS.org

(JNS.org) The Israeli-American Council (IAC), an organization providing various means of support for the estimated Israeli-American population of 500,000-800,000, has named new top professional and lay leaders in advance of the group's second annual national conference.

Adam Milstein • 3 weeks ago

(JNS.org) The Israeli-American Council (IAC), an organization providing various means of support for the estimated Israeli-American population of 500,000-800,000, has named new top professional and lay leaders in advance of the group's second annual national conference.

Sigalit Atzmon • That's you!

Add a comment...